

PROBLEMATIC ISSUE SPREAD

		Card	Intepretation		Card	Intepretation
The Timeline	Present	The Hanged Man	In the present situation, I can tell you are very worried you might fail. Instead of trusting your own skills you are sitting around hoping for someone else to validate your decisions.		ROOT:	Two of Pentacles The real root of your problem is lack of adaptability. You worry that taking this new path has made it so you have overcommitted. Remember sometimes we must sacrific the old and broken to usher in a new wave of joy and inspiration.
	Past	Seven of Wands (reversed)	You may have not had the best example of perseverance growing up. It seems that those that raised you might have thrown in the towel early and you might be repeating some of these patterns yourself. Striking out on a new adventure might have overwhelmed you in the past and it makes it so you are hesitant to strike out again.		STRENGTHS:	Two of Wands You are always great at planning for the future and making decisions. Trust your intuition, because it is a strong source of clarity for you during this new, exciting and yes sometimes uncomfortable time.
	Future	The Emperess	You are capable of so much more than you know. Abundance and great rewards lie in wait for you on this path.		CURRENT STATE OF MIND:	Frog You are concerned this new path will push you out of the great balance between work and home life you have been working so hard to keep. Remember that although the frog can explore on land aqiring wealth it always has the water to go back to which provides much needed nourishment, rest and rehabilitation. This time be sure to not carry your heavy burdens in silence.
					EXTERNAL FORCES AT PLAY:	The Star You guides are telling you that you have got this you are ready for this new path and in fact you have all that you need to take it with confidence. You will be provided for.
The Obstacle	PAGE OF WANDS		You are allowing your self-limiting beliefs to hold you back. Sometimes when we are faced with unlimited potential we can get scared. As humans we like boundaries and anything that is limitless can come across as overwhelming or make us want to shy away. The truth is you can never really know what joy lies around the conner if you never leap at all.		HOPES:	Owl The treasures that you seek from striking out anew are right around the corner. You will know what to do when this abundance is presented to you. Do not let worry make you forget to be grateful for the situation you are in now. For only when we are in a place of gratitude can we recieve.
					FINAL OUTCOME:	Eight of Swords with Tarantula Both the tarantula and the eight of swords discuss us talking ourselves out of our joy, but if you double back from this new path you are sure to stay in your victim mentality never being able to rise above. All of us have to go through some dark times and repeating cycles at times. These are meant as a learning tool a way in which we can grow. The patient tarantula sits back and urges you to choose wisely. Start a daily journal to track your emotions on this topic what are the tangible outcomes you are getting from this path?
Your Description of Issue:			I have started a new adventure, but I am still not sure if I made the right choice.			